The Chapel of the Cross will again host The Caedmon Church Music Conference this summer. Andrew Dittman and Chris Hoyt will direct the third conference July 8-11. Details and registration can be found at <https://caedmonconference.com>

Named after the 7th century English hymnodist, of whom Bede wrote: "... in this monastery there was a brother, to whom the gift of song was divinely given," the Caedmon Church Music Conference exists to promote the continuing music education and mutual encouragement of Anglicans throughout North America, especially those who minister in a traditional, prayerbook context.

Jesus' Goodness – Gregory Nazianzen

My trials are merely a fraction of the spitting and blows Christ endured. We face these dangers for Him and with His help. For even taken altogether, these dangers don't deserve the crown of thorns which robbed our Conqueror of His crown. Yet for His sake I am crowned for a hard life. I don't consider these trial worth ... the gall or vinegar alone. But by these we are cured of the bitter taste of life. My struggles aren't worthy of the gentleness He showed in His passion. Was He betrayed with a kiss? He corrects us with a kiss, but doesn't strike us. Was He arrested suddenly? He definitely reproves them, but follows willingly. And if through zeal you cut off the ear, of Malchus with a sword, He will be angry and will heal it. And if one of us runs away in a linen sheet, He will defend that person. If you ask for the fire of Sodom to come down on His captors, He won't pour it out. And if He sees a thief hanging on the cross for his crime, He will bring him into paradise through His goodness. Let all who love people be loving in their actions, as Christ was in His sufferings. Nothing could be worse than refusing to forgive our neighbor of even the smallest wrongs when God died for us.
